Unhandled 0x80040706 object reference not set

Error Description:

Unhandled 0x80040706 object reference not set

Resolution:

Please verify that you are logged into the computer as the administrator. Security software or other restrictions (especially to the system registry) have been disabled or removed. Ensure that no other software is running at the time of installation. This includes Windows Startup Items that show up in the system tray. Make sure there are not old installation files on another partition of the drive, or other folders such as My Documents or under other profiles that were created previously.
